

Serafina energy Aruba

Who owns Serafina energy?

Serafina Energy to be acquired by Strathcona Resources. (Credit: ingrs from Pixabay) Canada-based Strathcona Resources has reportedly signed a deal worth C$2.3bn ($1.8bn) to acquire Serafina Energy, a producer of thermal heavy oil in the Canadian province of Saskatchewan.

Will Strathcona buy Serafina energy?

Aug 3 (Reuters) - Strathcona Resources has agreed to buy private equity-backed Serafina Energy for C$2.3 billion ($1.8 billion), sources with direct knowledge of the matter told Reuters on Wednesday, marking the largest acquisition by the Canadian private oil and gas producer. The deal is scheduled to close on Aug. 29, the sources said.

What business does Serafina Energy operate in?

Serafina Energy Ltd. is an oil and gas company that performs geophysical, geological, and other exploration services for oil and gas. The Company focuses on the development of conventional heavy oil and thermal heavy oil assets. Serafina Energy serves customers in Canada.

When is Serafina Energy expected to close?

The latest transaction is anticipated to be closed on 29 August 2022. Serafina Energy is engaged in producing thermal heavy oil at its steam assisted gravity drainage (SAGD) facilities in Edam and Meota, Saskatchewan, Canada.

How much oil does Serafina energy draw a day?

According to the publication, Serafina Energy draws 40,000 barrels of oil per day (bpd). On its website, the company stated that its facilities utilise steam-assisted gravity drainage (SAGD) technology for recovering leftover reserves from existing heavy oil pools that are on the verge of their primary production ability.

What does Strathcona do with Serafina?

Strathcona is focused on the Montney basin in Alberta and British Columbia, Cold Lake oil sands and the Lloydminster heavy oil region. Strathcona produces 110,000 to 115,000 boe per day, mainly liquids. Strathcona and Serafina did not respond to requests for comment on the deal, which the sources told Reuters is scheduled to close on Aug. 29.

(Reuters) -Strathcona Resources has agreed to buy private equity-backed Serafina Energy for C$2.3 billion ($1.8 billion), sources with direct knowledge of the matter said on Wednesday, the...

Serafina Energy is private, oil and gas company that produces thermal heavy oil. The company is comprised of experienced leaders and technical experts who guide the development of its Steam Assisted Gravity Drainage (SAGD) assets. The company was founded in 2013 and is headquartered in Calgary, Alberta.

Serafina energy Aruba

Strathcona Resources Ltd. agreed to buy Saskatchewan-oil explorer Serafina Energy Ltd. for C$2.3 billion ($1.8 billion), the latest acquisition by the closely held Canadian ...

Strathcona Resources has agreed to buy private equity-backed Serafina Energy for $2.3 billion, sources with direct knowledge of the matter said on Wednesday, the largest acquisition yet by the Canadian private oil and gas producer.

5 likes, 0 comments - serafinaaruba on October 11, 2024: "Turn up the tunes in style with the Lexon, now available at Serafina, located at Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort Aruba. Perfect for beach days or poolside lounging, this waterproof speaker is your ultimate waterside companion. #LexonSpeaker #SerafinaAruba #BeachVibes #SoundOn #IslandEssentials"

Serafina Energy Ltd. is a privately-held, Canadian oil company focused on the development of conventional heavy oil and thermal heavy oil assets located in the province of Saskatchewan, Canada. Serafina Energy produces over 15,000 barrels per day of thermal heavy oil at its SAGD facilities in Edam and Meota, SK. Future projects are currently ...

Strathcona Resources Ltd. agreed to buy Saskatchewan-oil explorer Serafina Energy Ltd. for C$2.3 billion ($1.8 billion), the latest acquisition by the closely held Canadian energy company, according to a person familiar with the transaction.

Canadian oil and gas producer Strathcona Resources has signed a deal to acquire private equity-backed Serafina Energy for C$2.3bn ($1.8bn), reported Reuters, citing sources with direct knowledge of the matter.. Canadian intermediate heavy oil company Serafina Energy owns properties that are strategically comprised of high-quality, proven, low risk assets.

Accelerate the move to clean energy with low-carbon intelligence connecting assets, markets, and companies. Metals & Mining Access reliable research and analysis within and across the metals and mining industry to make ...

Serafina Energy Ltd. is a Calgary, Alberta-based thermal heavy oil company focused on capturing and exploiting projects in the thermal heavy oil belt of Saskatchewan. In August 2022, Serafina completed a sale to Strathcona Resources Ltd. for C$2.3 billion.

Canadian heavy oil producer Serafina Energy is considering the sale of the company to capitalise on the surging crude oil prices, sources familiar with the development told Reuters. If the deal materialises, the company could ...

The Serafina Energy Ltd. management team includes Dara Hanna (Team Lead, Finance), Rob Parsons (Chief Operating Officer), and Sameer Lally (Senior Project Engineer). Get Contact Info for All Departments

Strathcona Resources has agreed to buy private equity-backed Serafina Energy for $2.3 billion, sources with direct knowledge of the matter said on Wednesday, the largest acquisition yet by the Canadian private oil and gas producer. Serafina produces 40,000 barrels of oil equivalent (boe) per day in the province of Saskatchewan, while Strathcona is...

Strathcona Resources has agreed to buy private equity-backed Serafina Energy for C$2.3 billion ($1.8 billion), sources with direct knowledge of the matter said on Wednesday, the largest ...

Canada-based Strathcona Resources has reportedly signed a deal worth C$2.3bn ($1.8bn) to acquire Serafina Energy, a producer of thermal heavy oil in the Canadian province of Saskatchewan. The deal is expected to close later this month, reported Reuters, citing undisclosed sources having direct information about the development.

Serafina Energy is engaged in producing thermal heavy oil at its steam assisted gravity drainage (SAGD) facilities in Edam and Meota, Saskatchewan, Canada. It has a production capacity of 40,000 barrels of oil equivalent per day (boepd) in ...

Web: <https://www.taolaba.co.za>

