SSE Pacifico, the Japanese subsidiary of the UK energy group SSE, is setting ambitious goals to develop 6 gigawatts (GW) of offshore wind farms in Japan. The move aligns with Japan's national strategy to become a significant offshore wind power producer, targeting 10 GW by 2030 and up to 45 GW by 2040 as part of its decarbonization efforts.

SSE Pacifico K.K. will combine the extensive on-site pre-development work carried out by the experienced Pacifico Energy team with SSE's offshore wind farm development, construction and operation expertise and strong financial position.

SSE Pacifico, which is 80% owned by SSE, is partnering with development consortium lead Marubeni Offshore Wind Development (MOWD) and other local partners in the successful bid. The demonstrator is the first consented project in which SSE will be involved in the emerging Japanese offshore wind market.
